British singer Amy Winehouse shocked family and friends telling them that it intends to reconcile with her former husband Blake Fielder-Civil and start a family with him.

"All her friends about her worries. Was notified them that he wanted to meet with Blake when he finished addicts seeking treatment in a clinic in Sheffield" - tells the newspaper "The Sun", referring to the person with the surrounding stars. "Even more striking is the fact that Amy wanted a child. Her father, Mitch did not even want to hear about their possible coming together" - we read. Winehouse, who reportedly recently on the phone desperately begged ex-husband to return, so much depends on the resumption of its relationship with Fielder-Civil, that she decided to finish his latest album in Miami, where she married him in 2007. Singer has already lodged an application for a U.S. visa to be able to return to the United States and work there with the famous music producer Salaam Remi. "This place means a lot to her and could give her the inspiration to create new material" - said Winehouse journalist friend "The Sun". "Amy can no longer wait to return to Miami and complete work on the album Salaam, who has done such good work in her previous album Back to Black" - he added. Winehouse and Fielder-Civil, who recently received the sentence in his divorce case, for some time struggling with drug addiction and their attempts to appear to bear fruit. Star ex-husband is still living in drug rehabilitation center, which got a few months after his release from prison. While the singer has only recently returned to London after eight-month treatment on the Caribbean island of St. Lucia.
